Serial to CEC Adapter

Control HDMI® Devices with RS-232

The Audio Authority® 1810 uses the CEC pathway included in all HDMI connections to send serial commands to TVs, receivers, and sound bars. It can play a vital role in complex demonstration systems with multiple components that must remain in the correct mode, on the correct input, and power state. A commercial automation system or advanced media player can be programmed to control these devices to maintain system reliability.

Features:

- Converts RS-232 commands to CEC
- Control TVs, AV receivers, and sound bars
- Connects to any vacant HDMI port
- Powered independently via 5V DC, 1A power supply
